

Bundanoon Community Garden

The garden was formally launched in December 2011 in the grounds of the Quest for Life Centre in Ellsmore Rd, Bundanoon. The initiative came out of an Open Space community event, 'Our Future Bundanoon', itself designed to integrate with the Shire's broad WIngecarribee 2031+ process. The Community Garden is a sub-committee of the Bundanoon Community Association, and a collaborative project with Quest for Life.

Broadly, the Community Garden exists to:

- become a highly productive source of produce for its members, operating according to organic and permaculture principles;
- offer surplus produce and products (e.g. seedlings, compost) to the local community;
- provide a learning source and centre for education in local food growing, sustainability and building local resilience in times of transition; and
- provide a unique social place where local people come together to enjoy social gatherings, whether food-related or not.

All are welcome to come along on Tuesdays and Saturdays from 8.30am to 12 noon.
